Council to accept storm-related green waste

THE waste transfer station at Townsend will accept storm-related green waste from the Maclean area free of charge until Friday, January 12.

Clarence Valley Council acting mayor, Jason Kingsley, said many residents would be cleaning up over the next week and the council would help out by accepting self-haul storm-generated green waste free of charge.

He said insurance should cover the clean up of damaged household or building items.

The waste transfer station is in Paperbark Drive, Townsend.

Release ends.
